

imiqtuaq. See: imiguuruaq.
taangnaqti n. alcoholic; drunkard. Syn: imiguuruaq; imingaruaq; imiqtuaq.
taapkua dem.pron. those right there (plural). Syn: taamna.
taapkunani those located right there (locative).
taapkununga toward those right there (terminalis).
taapkunaknga from those right there (ablative). Variant: taapkunangga.
taapkunuuna through those right there (vialis).
taapkunatun like those right there (similaris).
taapkuniņa those right there, with those right there (modalis).
taapkuak dem.pron. those two right there (dual). Syn: taamna.
taapkuņnaņni those two located right there (locative).
taapkuņnunga toward those two right there (terminalis).
taapkuņnaknga from those two right there (ablative). Variant: taapkuņnangga.
taapkuņnuuna through those two right there (vialis).
taapkuņnaktun like those two right there (similaris).
taapkuņniņa those two right there, with those two right there (modalis).
taa n. darkness.
taaq- vi. 1) to be dark. 2) to become dusky, to have little light.
taaqsaq- vt. to darken hair. Lit: 'make darker'. Variant: taaqtitaq- taaqsi- vi. to become dark.
taaqsimā- vi. to be unadjusted to darkness (of eyes). taaqsipaiyaaq n. 1) half-negro. 2) Negro child; young Negro.
taaqsipak n. Negro (member of a major human racial division traditionally distinguished by physical characteristics such as brown to black pigmentation and often tightly curled hair); dark-skinned person.
taaqsisuqsi- vi. to become dark sooner. taaqsiulguīt- vi. to be unadjusted to darkness (of eyes); to have difficulty seeing in the dark.
taaqtaaq n. something black; anything of a dark color.
taaqtaq n. something black; blue denim.
taaqtinniq n. bruise. Variant: anaqtinniq.
taaqtukkaq- vi. to faint, to black out. Syn: aiyaana-; imuliq-; kuniņaq-; tuquanu-. Variant: taaqtupkaq- taaqtulīq- vi. to turn dark earlier (of days in fall).
taaqtupkaq- vi. to faint. See: aayaana-. Variant:

taaqtukkaq-
taaqkupkaņniala- to have fainting spells.
taaqkupkaqayaq- to nearly faint.
taata n. father. Variant: aapa.
taataiļa n. fatherless child, illegitimate child. Lit: 'one without a father'. Variant: aapaiļa.
taataksraq n. stepfather. Variant: aapaksraq. taataruaq n. 1) grandfather. 2) great-uncle.
taatchiņiq n. common loon. Gavia immer.
taatchiņirāq n. slate-colored junco. Junco hyemalis.
taatna adv. like this; thus, in this manner. Taatnatun umialik tuqulliņiaqtuq iņūuņuraņniallağmi. In the same way the rich man is going to die while he goes about his life. Variant: itna.
taatnaluasru excl. word used when agreeing with speaker. Syn: asulu.
taatnalhaiņņāq adv. continually; that way all the time; repeatedly in that manner.
taatnamik adv. therefore.
taatnaqtit- vi. to fulfill; to make happen. Lit: 'let it become that way'.
taatnasiq n. certain kind; certain type, certain class. Variant: taatnasriq.
taatnasriq n. certain kind; certain type, certain class. Variant: taatnasiq.
taatnaunnii excl. do it that way anyway because it will be acceptable.
taatniuli excl. "let it be"; leave (him, her, it) alone.
taggiņ n. 1) term (a name of something); a title of something. Syn: taiņiq. 2) noun (in Iñupiat grammar). tagiala- vi. 1) to feel unwelcome. 2) to be homesick.
tagialanait- vi. to be hospitable (of an enjoyable atmosphere); to feel welcomed. Syn: niğiņaq-; tukki-; tutqiņņaq- tagialanaq- vi. to be inhospitable (of unfavorable atmosphere).
tagiaqtuq- vi. to go away from home (not feeling welcome anymore).
tagiuq n. worm which inhabits the nasal cavity (especially of caribou).
tagiuq- vi. to sneeze. (Originally thought to be caused by annoying the worm inside the nose.)
taglu n. snowshoe.
tagraq- vi. to travel upriver.
tagğaq n. shadow; a reflection.
tagğaqtuq- vt. to reflect, to mirror.
tagğaqtuun n. mirror.
tagğiņiq n. shade; shadow.
tagğit- vi. 1) to move into the shade or into a cool place. 2) to disappear from sight into the shadows. See: mağğutliğa- 3) to be thin (like paper).
tagiugmiut n. coast dwellers.